House To Vote On Extra Seats

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House is scheduled to vote Thursday on a bill to increase the membership by three seats. The proposed legislation was approved Wednesday by the House Rules Committee.

The bill would let Pennsylvania, Massachusetts and Missouri each retain one seat they would otherwise lose next year through reapportionment. It would increase house membership from the present 45 to 48.

Thirteen other states, which also will lose seats because their population growth was below the national rate, may offer amendments to the bill.

House leaders said they expected efforts to tack on more seats would be defeated.

Bidwell Pleads 'Not Guilty'

NEW YORK (AP)—J. Truman Bidwell, former chairman of the New York Stock Exchange, pleaded innocent Wednesday to charges of cheating the government of $55,908 in income taxes. He was freed in a modest $2,500 bail.

Bidwell, 58, resigned as exchange chairman last week, immediately after his indictment. He appeared before U.S. Dist. Judge John M. Cashin to plead in a firm voice: "Not guilty."

He faces up to 10 years in prison if convicted on two counts covering his 1956-57 income tax returns.

The government had asked bail of $10,000.

No date for Bidwell's trial was set.

PRR Seeks To Discontinue Line

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Pennsylvania Railroad notified the Interstate Commerce Commission Wednesday of its intention to discontinue, effective April 15, a daytime roundtrip passenger service between Buffalo, N. Y., and Harrisburg, Pa.

The railroad said the cost of operating the trains greatly exceeds revenues. It said that in 1961 the trains averaged only 53 passengers in either direction each day. Another night time roundtrip between the two cities is somewhat better patronized, it said.

The Pennsylvania said discontinuance of the daylight service would mean savings of about $500,000 a year.

Red Official Goes To Prison

WASHINGTON (AP) — A witness, identified as a top U.S. Communist who balked at answering a grand jury's questions about the party, went to jail Wednesday for contempt.

Philip Bart, 59, came here from his Brooklyn, N. Y., home and surrendered to U.S. marshals who put him behind bars, David C. Acheson, U.S. attorney for the District of Columbia, said.

Bart, a printer, was identified in court as organizational secretary of the Communist party in this country. Last Wednesday he was ordered imprisoned for up to six months for refusing to answer 47 questions the grand jury asked him.

Woman Kills Two Children, Self

CAMP HILL, Pa. (AP)—Violent death wiped out the family Tuesday of Ray Franklin Stauffer Jr., while he was at work.

State police said Stauffer found the bodies of his wife and two small children at the family's home on Appleton Road when he returned home Tuesday from work as a civil engineer.

Sgt. Walter A. Wise of the Carlisle state police said Mrs. Ann Elizabeth Stauffer, 35, apparently had taken the lives of her two children and then killed herself. Bodies of 2-year-old James Michael and Cynthia Ann Stauffer, 7 months old, were found nearly placed side by side on a bed.

Mrs. JFK Leaves On Trip Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. John F. Kennedy leaves Thursday on the first leg of her trimmed-down trip to India. It will follow much the same path Britain's Queen Elizabeth II took on a royal tour in 1961.

President Kennedy plans to go to National Airport to see his wife off for the brief hop to New York City.

She will be abroad 20 days. The first Lady will fly the 15,000 mile overseas route by commercial and charter plane.

She'll stay overnight in New York pick up her sister and traveling companion, Princess Lee Radziwill, and take off Friday night for a weekend in Rome.

Good Morning!

"Does this bus stop at Eighth Street?" a lady asked another passenger. "Yes, watch me and get off one block before I do."

Hospital Drive Reaches $628,055

THE MONROE County Hospital Expansion Program received another boost yesterday in its drive to raise $1,000,000. C. R. Bensinger, Jr., chairman of the Pattern Gifts Committee, reported $33,500 in new gifts bringing the present overall total to $628,055.

The Pattern Gifts committee total to date is $119,389. Team No. 1, captained by LeRoy Mikels, has reported $73,794, while team No. 2 headed by E. Holt Wyckoff, Jr., has reported $45,094. The committee's goal is $250,000.

According to Bensinger, all committee workers reported excellent reception of the Hospital's plan for expansion. "The warm response to date has been most encouraging for all workers in the campaign," said the committee chairman.

Arlington W. Williams, general chairman of the Expansion Program, reported the final arrangements were being completed for the Special Gifts committee. This committee under the leadership of Spencer Cramer, chairman, will begin next week. Captains and team members

JFK Urges Resumption Of Steel Contract Negotiations

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy Wednesday prodded steel industry and union negotiators to get back to the bargaining table by next Wednesday. He said the public interest is deeply involved in a steel settlement.

Kennedy told a news conference he had sent telegrams to steel executives and to David McDonald, president of the United Steel Workers, telling them an agreement "would materially strengthen our economy and country."

Negotiations recessed last Friday with no time set to resume.

The steel industry contracts expire June 30. Kennedy expressed regret in his telegram that the union and companies, while willing to start negotiating early, had failed to come to agreement.

He said he regarded a steel pact as "symbolic as a test of our ability to manage our economy in a competitive world."

In Pittsburgh the USW and U.S. Steel Corp., the top steelmaker involved in the negotiations, had no immediate comment.

In Pittsburgh, USW President

McDonald telegraphed Kennedy that the union "will certainly comply with your expressed desire that mutual steps be taken by the principals to resume collective bargaining conferences between our union and the basic steel companies."

McDonald's telegram did not indicate when bargaining might resume.

Set March 14

A union spokesman said steps to resume bargaining may be taken in the next few days.

In New York, representatives of the negotiating team bargaining on behalf of the nation's 11 top steel producers, said they were "prepared to resume negotiations Wednesday, March 14, as you (Kennedy) requested."

In a telegram to President Kennedy, the four-member negotiating team said it was "ready to meet with them (union) at any time."

In another news conference statement, Kennedy reaffirmed his willingness to negotiate for a nuclear test treaty even after the United States resumes atmospheric testing.

Will Start Testing

The President announced last Friday that this country would start testing in the air again by late April if by that time the Russians have not agreed to a test ban with an effective inspection system.

Kennedy, in reply to questions, said he regarded the forthcoming Geneva disarmament conference as extremely important.

"I am not making optimistic predictions about its success, but I could make pessimistic predictions about its failure," he said.

Lawrence Signs General Fund Budget

HARRISBURG (AP) — Gov. Lawrence signed into law Wednesday his $1 billion general fund budget only 64 days after he put it before the legislature.

The spending program was virtually in the same form in which it was presented to the lawmakers Jan. 2. Only minor changes were made in appropriations.

The governor made only one major change. He eliminated $9.1 million in funds added to the budget for additional school subsidies in a Republican-backed bill.

The additional funds were approved by the legislature, but the governor said Atty. Gen. David Stahl ruled that the extra allocations would be unconstitutional.

The proposed funds would have provided additional payments to a large number of specific districts. Stahl ruled that the constitution would prohibit such an expenditure. The basic law stipulates that special legislation may not be made singling out individual school units.

Further, said Lawrence, the extra funds would have thrown his budget out of balance.

As it is now written, the spending program would allocate any surplus at the end of the 1962-63 fiscal year to all school districts.

The major bill in the appropriations signed by the chief executive was one providing $910 million in general appropriations for the day-to-day operations of state government.

350 Miles Above Earth:

U.S. Orbits Observatory For Study Of Sun

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — A complex solar observatory soared into orbit Wednesday to probe mysteries of the sun, how it controls conditions on earth and the peril that giant solar flares hold for human space travelers.

Nicknamed OSO for orbiting solar observatory, the 438-pound laboratory was hoisted into a 350-mile-high orbit by a Thor-Delta rocket launched from this spaceport at 11:06 a.m.

Almost immediately, OSO's instruments began radioing information on radiation streaming from the sun. From its vantage point above the cluttering veil of the earth's atmosphere, the satellite provided scientists with their first direct solar studies.

OSO is the first of several observatories planned to seek basic scientific data about the sun, the huge furnace at the center of the solar system about which the earth and eight other planets orbit.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration hopes a procession of such satellites will help answer such questions as how the sun determines the earth's weather, disturbs radio and television communications by bombarding the ionosphere with radiation, and alters the composition of the globe-girdling Van Allen radiation belts.

The space observatories will investigate the danger posed to astronauts by oceans of radiation flowing through the universe during periods of great flare activity on the sun. The studies may make it possible to predict periods of intense activity and enable rocketsmen to schedule deep-probing manned space flights around them.

Development of an accurate forecasting system is a high priority goal of the United States, which plans to launch three-man Apollo spaceship crews around and to the moon in the 1966-68 period — a time when formulas worked out by scientists indicate flare activity will be heavy.

The space agency hopes to launch at least one solar observatory a year to chart a full 11-year sunspot-or flare-cycle.

Packed in the OSO payload was a dazzling array of 13 experiments to measure flare activity; various types of radiation in many energy ranges; how millions of tons of hydrogen on the sun are converted into helium with the spillover being transferred to the solar system in the form of heat and light; solar X rays which penetrate deeply into the ionosphere and affect radio communications; and gamma rays—both from the sun and other sources in space—which possibly hold clues to elements making up the universe.

The cost of parking—as has most everything else—has gone up in Stroudsburg.

Mayor Joseph Small reported to Borough Council last night that he had received numerous complaints from persons who put pennies in parking meters, then complained the meters didn't work.

At his request, Council approved ordering of a supply of stickers which will be placed on the meters. They will read: NO PENNIES.

Parking meters throughout the borough now accept only nickels, dimes or quarters, depending upon their location.

Final Phase Of Algerian Talks Opened

EVIAN, France (AP)—Final details of a peace agreement for Algeria were taken up by rebel and French negotiators in a guarded conference Wednesday. There was speculation that the talks may take no more than four or five days.

The two delegations—with France's led by Louis Joxe, minister for Algerian affairs, and the rebels' by their tough, wary deputy premier, Belkacem Krim—met for five hours in morning and afternoon sessions in a hotel of this lakeside resort.

Strict secrecy surrounded the gathering. French security forces stood guard. No news conferences were scheduled by either side.

Both French and rebel authorities are aware of the danger of inflaming further the partisan emotions fanned by terrorist operations in the North African territory.

The Secret Army Organization is campaigning with explosives, gunfire and death threats to keep Algeria French, as it has been for years, and protect the holdings of the million European residents.

Moslems are waging similar street warfare in support of the desire of most of Algeria's nine million North Africans for independence.

In Algeria, where the Moslem masses marked the end of the holy month of Ramadan, the tide of violence ebbed.

Mother Feeds Rat Poison To Her Family

BLOOMFIELD, Ind. (AP) — A 35-year-old mother was held Wednesday on charges of giving rat poison to her husband and 10 children.

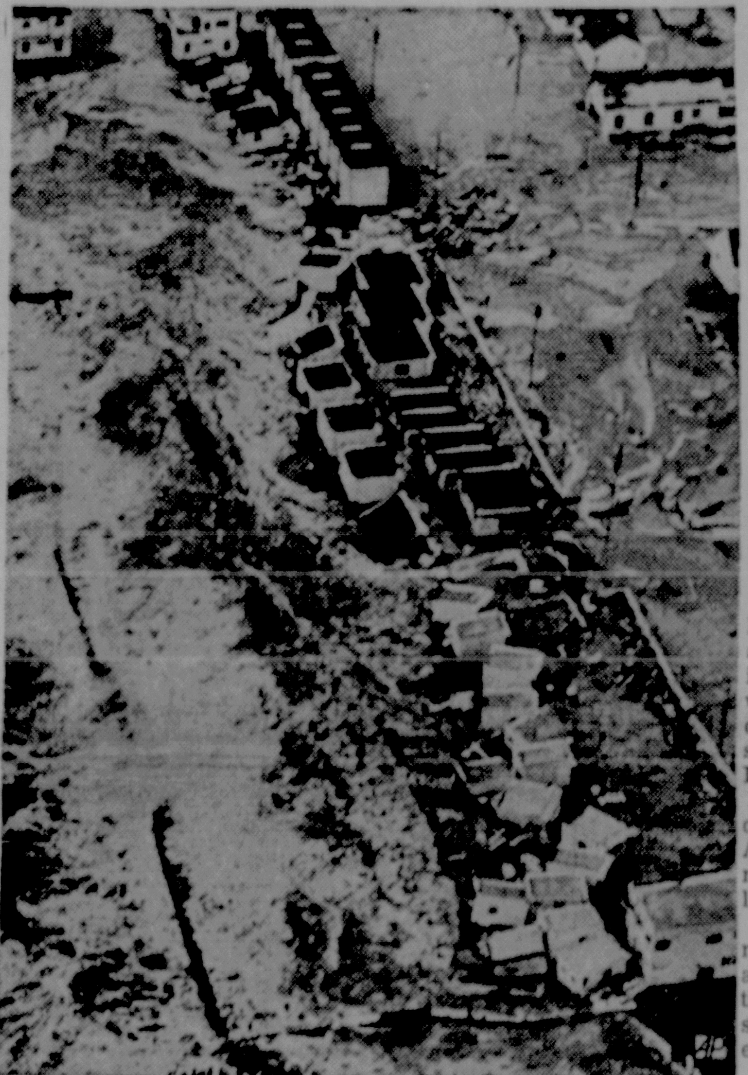

But the father, Edward Lane, 37, under treatment in a Veterans Administration hospital in Indianapolis for acute arsenic poisoning, said, "I hold no bitterness toward anyone."

Lane, who works as a plumber in Bloomington, said he hopes to arrange proper treatment for his wife, Fay Ellen, so he could "get right back with her."

Tests showed arsenic in her body, as in her husband and all their children, aged 4 to 17. Four of them are in Indianapolis hospitals.

Lane became violently ill Jan. 30 after drinking buttermilk his wife had given him.

"She was perfectly normal sometimes—just as sweet as can be," Lane said. "But she'd fly off the handle at other times for no apparent reason."

Tariff-Slash Agreements Signed With 24 Nations

WASHINGTON (AP) — The White House has announced a series of tariff-cutting agreements with 24 countries, and said the United States has gained a 4.3 advantage in their negotiation.

In making this contention, it said other countries agreed to lower tariffs on items which, in 1960, accounted for $1.6 billion worth of their purchases from the United States. On the other hand, U.S. tariff concessions covered commodities involved in $1.2 billion worth of U.S. purchases from those countries in the same year.

The negotiations were described as the largest and most complex in the 28-year history of the Trade Agreements Act. They were conducted in Geneva and involved, in addition to the United States, all the member countries of the European Economic Community and 18 other nations.

Percentages Vary

On most items slated for lower tariffs, the reductions will be 20 per cent. In a few cases, however, the cuts range up to 26 per cent.

One notable example was automobiles, where tariffs will be slashed by 24 per cent.

The White House estimated

Wednesday that, once the reduction on new cars goes into effect, the average American auto shipped to the European market will cost $126 less. On foreign-made cars entering the United States, tariffs would be cut about $21.50 a car.

The tariff cuts are expected to be put into effect soon, but the exact time is yet to be determined. It has to be worked out among all the nations involved.

Further Negotiations

In the negotiations, an understanding was reached that the European Economic Community will negotiate later on lowering tariffs on American agricultural commodities. The White House said this represented a fundamental change in the position of the European nations.

The tariff cuts negotiated in these agreements went about as far as President Kennedy could go under the present trade agreements law which expires June 30.

Kennedy on Jan. 25 asked Congress to enact a new trade law which would permit him to negotiate 50 per cent tariff cuts with Western Europe and provide for the gradual elimination of all tariffs on a wide variety of industrial items.

Deals In Categories

The proposed new law would authorize lower tariffs on categories of goods, instead of item by item. The agreements announced Wednesday were limited by present law to item by item action.

The announcement said that in addition to autos, other countries ordered tariff concessions of particular importance on chemicals and pharmaceuticals, industrial and electrical machinery, textiles, canned and preserved fruits and fats and oils.

The main concessions granted by the United States covered autos, certain classes of machinery and electrical apparatus, some steel products and glassware.

Families Evacuated From Shore Homes

A vicious backlash from one of the worst winter storms on record ravaged the East Coast Wednesday from New England to the Carolinas. Surging tides, violent winds and waves as high as a four-story building caused damage in the millions, exceeding that of many a full-fledged hurricane.

"The storm is the worst we ever had," said Lester Wise, 45, a Maryland refugee. The U.S. Weather Bureau in Washington was inclined to agree.

At Least 27 Dead

At least 27 persons lost their lives in a seven-state coastal area. Five children from one family were swept to death by flood waters at Bowers, Del. A patient died for lack of oxygen at a storm-battered hospital in Sea Isle City, N.J.

Property damage in North Carolina stood at nearly $3 million. Atlantic City, N.J., alone estimated its losses at over $5 million.

Tides up to 10 feet above normal rolled completely over coastal islands as thousands fled for their lives. Whole communities in southern New Jersey were covered by up to five feet of water.

Damage ran into uncounted millions from tides six feet above normal, waves 25 feet high and winds that gusted up to 84 m.p.h. Police Chief Jerry Sullivan said of hard-hit Atlantic City, N.J., that the damage from the 1944 hurricane was $5 million and this will be more.

Gov. Richard J. Hughes asked that the New Jersey coast be declared a federal disaster area.

The storm moved up the coast Tuesday, dropping up to three feet of snow in Virginia before it veered out to sea. But its effects on wind and tide lingered long after skies cleared and a bright winter sun emerged.

Metropolitan New York, spared any heavy snowfall, was buffeted by winds up to 50 m.p.h. Streets in lower Manhattan were flooded, water covering parked cars in some areas. Coney Island was virtually awash.

The National Guard sent emergency water supplies into Beach Haven and Cape May, N.J., after floods contaminated the regular supplies.

Thousands Vacated

At Ocean City, Md., Ben Nelson, American Red Cross representative, helping to evacuate 1,000 year-around residents, said it was the worst storm they have seen in Ocean City in 35 years.

Robert Hess was awaiting evacuation from a motel he owns in Ocean City and reported by telephone:

"You can't see land anywhere," he said. "We're hanging on, just waiting. I hope someone gets to us. My God, a wave just broke eight feet above us. I'd better get off the phone."

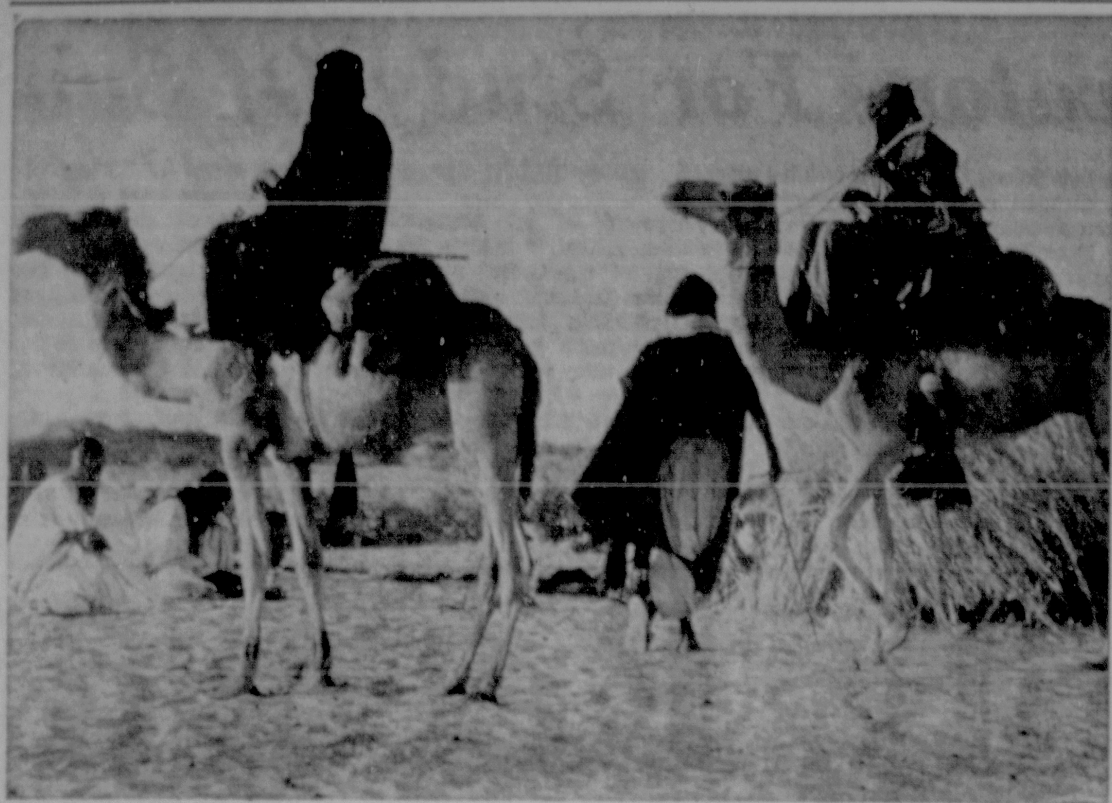

Chincoteague, Va., evacuated 1,000 residents as homes began breaking up before the onslaught of the surf. There were no lights and little food. The Navy and Coast Guard sent in helicopters to remove refugees.

SLAVES IN TIMBUCTOO—Tauregs are shown with their Bela slaves on the edge of town in Timbuctoo. American missionary workers have yet to convert an inhabitant of this city.

Two Yanks Know Timbuctoo Like Main Street, USA

(Another in a series of articles by Jack Gelinas, former East Stroudsburg resident who is employed by Mobil Petroleum Co. in West Africa).

TIMBUCTOO, MALI REPUBLIC — FORMER FRENCH SUDAN — The hotel registry here carries the names of only 43 Americans who have visited this nearly inaccessible city in more than three years. Of these 43 pioneers, 19 were members of the first group conducted tour in January 1958. This was the month the seven-room hotel was completed. It still offers the only accommodations in the city.

But there are two Americans who know Timbuctoo as well as most Americans know Main Street, USA. They are Rev. and Mrs. David L. Marshall of Norristown. They first came here to build an Evangelical Baptist Mission nine years ago, and except for two vacations for rest and study, have been here ever since.

Rev. Marshall, his wife Lorraine and their three children, make their home on the edge of the south-side of the city. They built the house themselves. And it is very comfortable.

Commenting on the house, Rev. Marshall said, "We enjoyed building it, but I must confess that it sometimes got frustrating waiting for a shipment of gravel to be hauled here from its source 150 miles away. And without gravel you just can't make concrete or cement."

They also made the small white-washed church which sits in one corner of their compound. On Sunday a passerby could have heard Christian hymns coming from the small church. He might not have recognized the language, because at the time the congregation might have been singing in Bambara—one of the Sudan's many tongues—but the tunes would have been evidence enough that someone had brought a touch of Christianity to this otherwise completely Muslim holy-town.

If you should ask Rev. Marshall about his small congregation he would tell you that in his many years in this strange land he has made only six converts, and that these six were army personnel from cities far afield, stationed at Timbuctoo. He would further tell you that this does not discourage him; that, "time is on our side."

Military Heavy
When the French Army was at its peak in this sub-Saharan community, the European element numbered about eighty persons. Fifty were military. But the Army left in October, and there remains one French Army doctor, who plans to leave at anytime, and a few technicians and their families. The number remaining to date, including the Marshalls: four families and their children, and two batchelors.

Days are hot and dry in Timbuctoo even in the cool season, but in a few more months temperatures exceeding 115 degrees Fahrenheit will not be uncommon in the Marshall's living-room. Outside in the sun, heat radiating from the sands will run a thermometer up to 150 degrees, and when darkness comes over the city the temperatures may drop to as low as 38 degrees.

When Rev. Marshall contacted infectious hepatitis last year, while on a mission down river, he was flown to Paris for treatment. This might seem strange to the casual observer, for only a few hundred yards from the Marshall's home is a hospital. Confronted with this fact, the good Reverend said, almost apologetically, "Yes, it is a very nice hospital, but you see they were out of medicine at the time."

get charcoal."

And the Marshall children? They are as happy as any children of their age group one would find anywhere. And their dog has just had puppies! So, if you're ever in Timbuctoo, and the local people learn that you're an American, you can be sure that they will inform you—and almost with a note of pride—that "over on the south-side there lives a gentle American and his family." If this happens, and you can be sure it will, you'll know they're speaking of the Marshalls.

SS Charge Recommends New Well

NEWFOUNDLAND — The parsonage committee of the South Sterling Methodist Charge has recommended to the three official boards that a well be drilled at the parsonage.

Water supply at the parsonage has been from a spring, the water level of which dropped since the 1955 flood. A rusted pipe line added to the difficulties, according to the committee.

The spring has also supplied the South Sterling Church. The WSCS has its own drilled well.

Serving on the parsonage committee are James Gilpin, Elvin Rake, Ray Smith, Robert Krieger and Fred McLain.

Freedom Bonds

United States Savings Bonds have two purposes; one to provide financing for the government, the other to help people save money. The first purpose brought the bond program into being in the first place. But as a practical matter, it is the latter function that sells the bonds.

It becomes an extremely personal thing, when the bond buyer realizes he is putting a solid financial foundation under his home, his family and especially the prospects of his children. That is what Savings Bond buying does for millions.

This leads into something currently important. For two months, next May and June, the impact of Savings Bond buying will be felt in the lives of most of our people. That will be the period of the 1962 Freedom Bond Drive. The 1962 goal will be the sale of $4.75 billion in E and H Savings Bonds.

There will be other objectives. One is to have as many people as possible—actually every American, if that is possible—be Savings Bond buyers during the period. Another is to increase the number of payroll savers; they now number over 8 million. A third is to build up over-the-counter bond sales in banks.

If past experience means anything, the public will respond. There have been no exceptions to this record since the first World War, when all the Liberty Loans and the wind-up Victory Loan were oversubscribed. In the present sequence, there have been three periods, the Defense Bond of pre-World War II, the War Bonds during the war, and since then the Savings Bonds. All have accomplished the basic purpose, to give the government working capital. But the greater profit has been in the millions of people made conscious for the first time in their lives of the road of personal solvency and security to be found in systematic saving.

Its' A Crime!

A school board in Bucks County currently is engaged in public hearings prescribed for the ouster of one of its teachers. A melancholy irony can be adduced from the charges lodged against the instructor.

The teacher is accused of:

Teaching her second-grade pupils arithmetic by letting them count their lunch money, rather than following a text book.

Letting her pupils write their spelling lessons on paper other than the yellow-lined sheets distributed by the school.

Turning her students loose to look up without first giving them "necessary" the word "production" in the dictionary background "in phonetics; that is teaching spelling by sounds.

But one of the higher crimes of the embattled teacher has been filed by the reading consultant of the Bucks County schools. Reporting on an inspection, she said she found youngsters—in second grade—reading, of all things, third-grade books.

These latter were considered by the consultant to be "too difficult" although our source of information is deficient to the extent that it isn't quite clear whether the books were too difficult for the second-graders or for the consultant. Charitably, we must assume the educator had the welfare of the youngsters in mind.

However, for these offenses and others—of such serious nature as sitting on the steps of the school and watching the children instead of patrolling the school grounds—the teacher stands a chance of losing her job and reputation. The latter, at least to the extent that may derive from the ouster proceedings.

In a broader sense, the Bucks County proceedings offer, perhaps, further evidence of why Uncle Sam must pour his billions into our public school system so that we may maintain our cultural advantage over the Russians.

Allowing second-graders to read third-grade books. Imagine that!

The Struggle For Education

Admiral H. G. Rickover not only built atomic submarines but battles to bring American education up to the highest standards. The highest standards are measured not by degrees but by knowledge, and when a Ph.D. knows very little outside his field of discipline, he is no more an educated man than one who never went beyond high school.

Often this attribute is regarded as intellectual snobishness, but it is nothing of the sort. It is a plain statement of fact and represents a criticism of the waste of time and money in the young years when one should be preparing for usefulness.

It will surprise many parents to discover that their sons in the armed services have better opportunities for education than those who waste their time attempting to be big wheels on college campuses.

Admiral Rickover has already made significant studies of Russian schooling. His present volume deals with "Swiss Schools and Ours: Why They Are Better." He says:

"Money and time invested in schooling buys less genuine education than in other advanced nations; less than it bought here before the life-adjusters took over."

Admiral Rickover's intellectual virtue is that he usually hits the bull's eye. Who is important in a school, from the kindergarten to graduate schools in the university? It is, of course, the teacher.

If the teachers are not qualified, are not devoted, what can be expected of the pupils? Yet in this era, we have come somehow to disregard the teacher and to look up to the managers. Admiral Rickover says it this way:

"Because we have always been much more impressed with practical than with learned men, we have habitually subordinated the latter to the former, even in enterprises devoted to learning. We elevate the house-keeping, office and personnel work that must be done in educational establishments above the work of the teacher."

"Though he alone gives purpose to the whole enterprise, we accord him a position subordinate to the school administrator who as often as not can lay no claim to scholarship, superior intelligence or higher education, and may not have had experience in classroom teaching."

Ex-athletic coaches are often made school principals, on occasion even college presidents, incredible as this may seem."

The best equipped and able men and women leave the schools to find a better livelihood and to be more respected in private enterprise, in government positions, or they devote themselves to the endless task of research and to the writing of repetitive books to pay for baby's shoes.

Swiss schools have been famous and to them parents of many countries send their children. The work is hard; the hours are long; the school year is longer than ours; the results are better.

A study of the Swiss system explains why first the American high school diploma and then the B.A. degree have lost their standing. It also explains why the college life of Americans at present must run about seven years to accomplish little more than is achieved in most European universities in four or five.

It also explains why so many Americans hold college degrees who have no basic education, no knowledge of literature, philosophy or history.

Admiral Rickover's book contains numerous examples of work done by students which perhaps explains why a small country like Switzerland, which is about the size of Maine, has managed to make its schools so important, but what amused me most is a comment of a Swiss teacher who visited model American schools and reached this conclusion:

"The children are charming and so poised; they speak with much greater ease than our youngsters who aren't voluble, you know, and who still fight to overcome shyness. We let them talk for the first five school years, just to get them used to expressing their opinion before the class."

"But by the sixth grade we tell them that they are now old enough to be expected to have something worth while to say; that they must get the facts and think through the issues before they express their opinions. These American seventeen-year-olds were talking on what we would consider fifth-grade level."

The teacher's battle to teach is eternal in the American school where everybody is entitled to an opinion even if he has had no time to study between watching TV and talking over the telephone.

'... And I Call It Self-Defense!'

The Pennsylvania Story

March 26 Is A Critical Date

By Mason Denison

Harrisburg—With the rheumatic question of who shall be the party candidates for the two top spots of Governor and U.S. Senator now on the "settled" list insofar as both parties are concerned, the eagle eye in both camps turns toward March 26.

That is not the date when they will all be lined up and shot—but it is nevertheless a somewhat critical date. On March 26 the books close on registrations for the May primary.

When the totals are tabulated following this end-of-March date, it will not of course provide the great clue as to just who or which will be Pennsylvania's next Governor, but regardless of which way the registration straws blow it will provide the political hucksters in one camp or the other with something to huck about.

As Pennsylvania heads into this registration period providing Keystone Staters with an opportunity to switch from one party to another, register for the first time, switch to the Birch Society, etc.—the incident falls within the category of being noteworthy in several respects.

In the first place, Pennsylvania Democrats are the current occupants of the fine fettle department; they are in fine fettle because as they go into this go-get-'em-voters scramble they hold a registration edge over their Republican counterparts upwards of 155,000.

This in itself is somewhat of a noteworthy accomplishment inasmuch as they're never before enjoyed such a triumphant edge in fact it wasn't until 1960 that they managed to out-register their elephant-riding friends on the other side of the arena.

The question now is: will they hold this lead, increase it or slack off the their arch-rivals?

The very fact that one party or the other enjoys such an edge certainly is no assurance of victory as the history of the smoke-filled rooms of both political parties well know.

For Republicans, they need only recall their abortive political putsch of 1954 that went down the drain when donkey riders galloped to victory—notwithstanding a near-million registration edge in favor of GOPsters.

And for Democrats there is that more recent founder of only last November when notwithstanding this 155,000 registration edge they now enjoy, they lost somewhat embarrassingly to Republicans in a State-wide State Supreme Court race.

Thus while certainly no registration edge can be considered a full scale blow-out to victory in this day of more intelligent and enlightened voters (who to anger and consternation of political old pros refuse to blindly swallow party dictates), the "edge" does have its connotations; its implications and its potpourri of hopefulness.

The question now is not one of whether minority Pennsylvania Republicans wipe out this edge; rather it is a question of how well they can keep it confined, or perhaps reduced.

The general feeling among Capitol Hill observers (who are usually wrong more often than they are right!) is that the showings of this primary registration period and the upcoming period before this fall's general election unquestionably will give an indication at least, of the way the political winds are blowing.

Republicans insist (or at least they did before they became entangled in their game of candidate musical chairs) that "this is a Republican year" a point to all sorts of hunches and groundhog predictions to prove it. Democrats insist of course that it's nothing of the sort; admitting though that it may be somewhat of a "close year."

Of course no one knows; these are merely hopeful prognostications, but both views do underscore the same critical point: you gotta have voters no matter what!

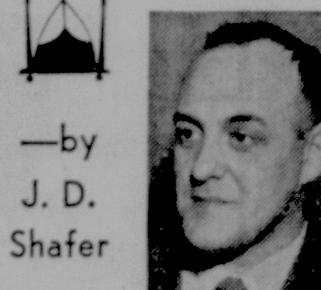

Thus the interest and concern in the registration period now under way—and the one upcoming for the fall election, March 26 is the first of the two critical checkpoints.

Off The Record

By Bob Clark

Johnny Dengler, the Poconos' gift to the jazz world, has signed a new contract to appear next season at the Trade Winds near Pompano Beach, Fla.

Johnny and his group of specialists are the rage of the southland and pack them in nightly at the top Florida night spot.

Incidentally, Johnny, son of Hawthorne's LeRoy Dengler, heads soon for Las Vegas where he will head a unit at one of the Gambling City's leading hotels.

Jazz experts claim almost in unison that Dengler is "out of this world" when it comes to making the four winds blow at the Trade Winds.

Marty Baldwin found out that the Poconos is known in Florida. The Stroudsburg RD resident noted that everywhere he goes in the south's vacationland people keep asking him about such area sites as Hickory Valley Farms, Penn Stroud Hotel, Sky Top, Pocono Manor, and Buck Hill.

Baldwin also says that Miami is happy to get Jack Cummins back among the television announcers fraternity. In fact, Marty has a clipping which says, "Sunny (meaning Florida) welcomes Jack Cummins back to Miami as WLBW-TV's Sports Director."

Cummins is the same gentleman who cavorted as head professional at Shawnee Country Club this past season. He resigned the links post to return to the job he held in Miami before migrating northward.

Harry Obitz' Palm Aire golf course, is drawing all of the big league ballplayers training in the Pompano Beach area.

Frequenters at Harry's layout are the New York Yankees' Mickey Mantle, Ralph Terry and Ronnie Shelden, the latter two hurlers on the Bronx Bombers pitching staff.

Those who have played Obitz course shout it is one of the finest in Dixieland.

Obitz is another Shawnee favorite who was head professional at the Delaware "Golf Capital of the East" before Cummins tenure.

Speaking of athletes from other fields at Pompano, Walt Matuszak, former Cornell University All-American quarterback, plays Obitz' 18-holes almost daily while vacationing there.

Walt, president of Glen Brook Country Club, usually plays in a foursome which includes Tom Rich, another Big Red great of bygone years.

The Allen-Scott Report

By Robert S. Allen and Paul Scott

Washington—A little-known provision in the Massachusetts Constitution is the inside reason Edward (Ted) Kennedy, 30-year-old youngest brother of the President, is about to announce for the Senate against Speaker John McCormack.

Under Massachusetts' Constitution, young Kennedy can't run for Governor or Attorney General. He hasn't lived in the state long enough.

The constitution requires seven years' residence for governor, and five years for attorney general. "Ted" was born and reared in Boston, but switched his legal residence to Virginia while attending college there. He resumed his Massachusetts residence several years ago.

What Made Ted Run For Senator

As a result, he is qualified to run only for the U.S. Senate or House of Representatives—and he is not interested in the latter. So he is throwing his hat into the ring for the Democratic nomination for the two remaining years of the Senate term to which his oldest brother was elected in 1958.

This constitutional quirk is the real reason for the impending sizzling battle between the President's baby brother, who has never run for public office before and "Eddie" McCormack, 38-year-old nephew of the speaker, a graduate of Annapolis serving his second term as attorney general by a majority topped only by the President's in 1960.

This controlling background factor was explained by "Ted" to Representative Thomas (Tip) O'Neill, D.-Mass., member of the powerful House Rules Committee and on close terms with both the Kennedys and McCormacks.

To avoid a bitter primary battle, O'Neill sought to persuade young "Ted" to run for governor or attorney general. The latter shook his head.

"Batter Royal—I can't," explained "Ted." "I'm barred by the State Constitution. I haven't been a legal resident of Massachusetts long enough. But I can run for the Senate and House, so I've decided to try for Jack's old seat."

"Eddie" will be awfully tough to beat," warned O'Neill. "He's got an outstanding record, and he has won two statewide elections by huge majorities."

"I know that," replied young Kennedy. "But I've had a number of surveys made and they indicate I have a pretty good chance to win. The last polls gave Eddie the lead in Boston, but I was ahead of him in the rest of the state."

"Eddie was equally adamant when O'Neill talked to him about the governorship."

"I have a better than 50-50 chance of licking 'Ted,'" said the tall, blond Navy veteran. "I won't have a million dollars backing me, but I have served my state and country, and the voters of Massachusetts know the Senate even if the odds are two to one against me. That's how intensely I feel about this. I feel I have earned the right to stand for the Senate."

Both the President and Speaker McCormack have kept hands-off these decisions.

The President was not enthusiastic about "Ted" jumping into the Senate fight. "But when the latter voiced his determination to do so, the President didn't intervene."

"If that's what you want to do, it's up to you," he said. "But you can expect rough going. Eddie is an experienced and able politician and vote-getter. He will give you the fight of your life. So be prepared for the worst, because you're very apt to get it."

To a top Massachusetts Democrat, Speaker McCormack made it clear he would do nothing to sway "Eddie" either way.

"He is his own master and knows what he wants to do," said McCormack. "I am not going to influence him one way or the other. It is his career and his decision, and he is perfectly competent to handle both without any advice from me."

Regardless of who wins the Democratic nomination, most likely Republican senatorial candidate is George Cabot Lodge, son of former Vice President Nixon's running mate. Young Lodge, only a few years older than "Ted" Kennedy, is being opposed by Representative Laurence Curtis, Boston, but appears to have the edge.

Politically—Vice President Lyndon Johnson is the choice for this year's Four Freedoms Award. It will be given the Texan at a large annual banquet in New York. The Four Freedoms Award was established in honor of the late President Roosevelt to commemorate his famed four freedoms—"from want, fear, and for freedom of speech and worship."

The award is administered by the Four Freedoms Foundation, headed by former Judge Ferdinand Pecora, noted New Deal Wall Street investigator, former Interior Secretary Oscar Chapman, former Ambassador Carlos Romulo, and Eric Johnston, Producers Association. Other recipients of this award have been former President Truman, the late General George Marshall, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt, Dr. Ralph Bunche, former Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, and George Meany, AFL-CIO president.

Mrs. Belford Lawson, general counsel of the National Council of Negro Women, is a likely choice for one of the two District of Columbia juvenile judgeships created by Congress last week, when the House decisively defeated Representative James Davis, D-Ga., who stymied this legislation for six years.

Assistant Secretary of State Frederick Dutton was warmly complimented by an unexpected source. Representative Edwin Dooley, R-N.Y., heartily lauded Dutton "for tireless assisting members of Congress in their efforts to secure accurate information on State Department policy."

Formerly the secretary of the Cabinet, Dutton switched to the State Department, at the request of Secretary Rusk, to strengthen his liaison with Congress—and apparently is succeeding. A Californian and one-time executive assistant to Governor Edmund Brown, Dutton is slated to be named by him a member of the University of California Board of Regents.

The biggest testimonial dinner ever held in Nevada was given for Senator Alan Bible in Las Vegas. Senator Mike Mansfield, Mont., flew there especially to be guest speaker and to deliver personal messages of acclaim from President Kennedy, Vice President Lyndon Johnson, Speaker McCormack and other notables.

Inside You And Yours

Medicine Marches On

By Burton H. Fern, M.D.

Recently announced:

Special penicillin tablets that kill germs immune to ordinary penicillin. Until now, this special penicillin had to be injected.

English babies delivered at home showed as many penicillin-immune staph germs as those born in the hospital. Hospitals may be cleaner than you think!

Also, a new ulcer remedy combining the usual formula with an anti-fear drug. Now ulcers can heal fearlessly in spite of smoking, drinking and eating forbidden foods.

With larger doses, heavy smokers and drinkers still didn't heal well. Because of taut nerves, perhaps?

Hypnotism Helps

Hypnotism can enlarge the hospital and save you money! Patients were hypnotized before surgery and told that recovery would be fast and easy. Compared with the non-hypnotized, they required fewer pain-relieving drugs, were able to go home days earlier (making room for extra patients) and averaged savings of $50 to $100.

Saturated with unsaturated publicity, one specialist reminds us that heart disease prevention includes less fat and less calories. Cut animal fats more than vegetable oils—but cut both!

Acrobatic Treatment

Standing on your head relieves that feeling of a full bladder about to explode. Overstretched bladders don't feel full unless the weight of eatey contents pushes on the bladder floor.

Nonsense? Not for weightless space travelers who'll never feel full. Like little boys, they may have to be reminded to go to the bathroom!

No Increase In Taxation As S-burg Adopts Budget

STRODSBURG Borough Council last night adopted a 1962 budget calling for receipts of $242,778, expenditures of $242,054 and no increase in taxation.

Also adopted were ordinances fixing the tax rate at 15 mills, the same as last year, and reenacting the $5 per capita tax.

The budget expects receipts of $30,141 from real estate and occupation taxes; $32,000 from parking meters; $20,668 in grants from federal, state and county governing units, and $13,000 in per capita tax.

Major expenditures include $33,458 for the police department, $42,403 for street department operations and $27,000 for rebuilding of W. Main St.

Council also approved alternate side parking on Thomas and Scott Sts. between Fifth and Ninth Sts. to facilitate street cleaning and snow removal on a temporary basis.

The resignation of Patrolman Gerard W. Wendt from the police force, effective March 23, was approved and Francis Paul Clurso, 35, of 816 Ann St., high man on the police Civil Service Commission examination, was named to replace him. Wendt resigned to enroll in a conservation school.

In other action, Council: Rejected a proposal by Councilman Robert Weichel to restore diagonal parking on the south side of Main St. with the 40 meters needed to cover the additional parking spaces to be removed from Ann St. There was no second to Weichel's motion.

Authorized Solicitor George T. Robinson to prepare an ordinance establishing lines and grades of curb on W. Main St. and authorizing construction of the curb.

Plan Further Probe

Tabled pending further investigation a plan to light the ramps leading to and from the Stroudsburg Thruway at a cost of $8,548.20. The proposal was submitted to council by Mayor Joseph Small after conferences with Pennsylvania Power and Light Co. officials. The State Highways Dept. will be asked for information concerning the minimum lighting the department will accept.

Approved erection of signs cautioning motorists that children are playing in the vicinity of the N. Third St. playground.

Approved a plan of the Council for Area Beautification for proposed planting of trees and shrubbery along McConnell St.

Authorized Borough Manager Harold E. Snyder to advertise for bids for concrete and concrete pipe to be accepted at the next meeting. The material will be used in building curbs and a culvert on W. Main St.

Directed Robinson to prepare an ordinance establishing a planning commission after hearing Small report that Robert Pinder, an engineer with the Jacobs Co., has volunteered to head such a commission if it is formed.

Miss Bensel, Pipher Seek Nominations

INCUMBENTS Stuart Pipher and Patricia Bensel will seek nominations as president and recording secretary respectively of the Central Labor Union (Monroe-Pike Counties), officials stated last night.

It had been erroneously stated that the two officials would be replaced.

Officials said that Pipher and Bensel will run again when the nominations take place in April.

CLU aide, Paul J. Dellaria, also scouted a report that Pipher is not a member of any union.

Dellaria said, "Stuart Pipher is a member of three unions and has been a member of a union all the time he has occupied the presidency."

Pipher also has been elected a delegate of the Officeworkers Union. Miss Bensel is a delegate of the Hotel and Restaurant Employees Union.

Community Concert Monday

THE first community concert in three months will be presented in the college auditorium Monday evening, March 12. The artist is the lovely, talented soprano of the Metropolitan Opera company, Heidi Krall.

Miss Krall is a graduate of the original company of "Oklahoma," which gave her her first professional experience. Following this stage experience she spent 9 more years in vocal study, worked on various operatic roles, learned 4 languages and more about "stage business".

During this time she achieved a degree of stardom in the London production of Carlo Menotti's chamber opera, "The Consul". It was in 1963 that she substituted for a contestant in the Metropolitan Opera auditions, and won the opportunity to sing at the "Met". Needless to say, she made good and is now an established favorite with that company.

A completely American trained prima donna, Miss Krall was educated in Cleveland and is a graduate of Music, where she studied under Madame van der Veer, one of the all time greats in the field of background, achieved with this outstanding teacher, has been of great help to Miss Krall, for she is adept not only in the dramatic musical arts, such as opera, but she is equally at home in singing religious music and song literature best suited to the concert stage. Consequently, she is constantly in demand to perform in each of these 3 vocal fields: opera, oratorio, and concert work.

Her popularity as a concert artist attests to her ability as a performer, as recognized by the public. Recently, she received many plaudits for filling in at the last Verdi "requiem", conducted by the late Bruno Walter. And on the European and American operatic stages critics have sung her praises in "Tannhauser", Sieglinde in "Die Walkure", Desdemona in "Othello", and Musetta in "La Boheme". She has also starred in Puccini's "Tosca", the ever popular lar "Carmen", by Bizet, and the Strauss opera, "Arabella".

An important addition to the already busy March musical calendar of the Stroudsburg area is the concert of Miss Heidi Krall, soprano from the "Met", whose recital will be sung Monday, March 12, in the college auditorium.

Monroe CO. Science Fair Set For March 22-23

To Be Held At Armory; Many Students To Exhibit

THE ANNUAL Monroe County Science Fair, sponsored jointly by The Daily Record and the Industrial Management Club, will be held at the National Guard Armory, East Stroudsburg, on Thursday and Friday, March 22 and 23.

Up to this point, local science fairs have been held in the individual schools of the area, and the students are working diligently on their entries for the big county exhibit. Those students with outstanding exhibits will be awarded honors and prizes, while all exhibitors will receive some recognition.

While the exhibits presented are part and parcel of the thinking and creation of the individual students, they are assisted and guided by their Science teachers, who provide technical advice.

Details of the fair, as well as the rules and regulations which govern it, are outlined below. If they have not already done so, students desiring to enter exhibits may obtain registration forms from their teachers or in the editorial room of The Daily Record.

What The Fair Is
The Monroe County Science Fair is an annual exhibition of science work done by the girls and boys of the schools of Monroe County. It gives these students an opportunity to display exhibits and demonstrations built and prepared by them. Participants gain experience that may lead to a career in science or industry.

The Fair provides an opportunity to give practical expression to classroom theory. It awards prizes to students whose projects are selected as winners by a group of competent judges.

After you have read this folder you should select a project, then consult with your science teacher before you go ahead with your plans or start to build anything. Your science teacher can give you needed advice. Do not ask your teacher to select a project for you.

Who May Enter

Any boy or girl presently enrolled in a senior or junior high school in Monroe County may enter a project. Separate awards students do not compete with Senior High students.

1. Senior High School Division is for exhibitors who are in grades 10, 11, and 12.

2. Junior High School Division is for exhibitors who are in grades 7, 8, and 9.

Senior High School Division
There are seven major fields of science in which senior high school students may enter an exhibit.

1. Biology. Exhibits concerned with nature study, plants, animals, and bacteria.

2. Chemistry. Exhibits dealing with chemical compounds, chemical reaction and processes, household chemistry, and synthetic products.

3. Conservation. Exhibits which show the wise use of natural resources, including soil, minerals, water, wild life, and forests.

4. Engineering. Exhibits having to do with the practical applications of science in transportation, manufacturing, communication, and aviation.

5. Human Biology. Exhibits having to do with the human body and medicine.

6. Physics. Exhibits that deal with physics, electronics, and mathematics.

Junior High School Division
There are three major fields of science in which a junior high school student may enter an exhibit.

1. Natural Science. Projects and exhibits that deal with chemistry, mechanics, heat, light, sound, magnetism, electricity, electronics, nuclear energy, or illustrations of practical applications of science principles in various fields of commerce and industry.

3. Earth and Space Science. Projects concerned with geology, astronomy, meteorology, and space.

How To Plan Exhibits
In planning to enter the Science Fair you should take certain steps before beginning your project.

First of all, write down a list of projects that interest you, then discuss them with your teacher, parents, or a friend. Select the one you think you can do well.

You need not have the biggest and most expensive project to win. Originality, scientific thought, research, and thoroughness are the things that count with the judges. Always keep in mind that your project will be judged on what you have done.

Many of the Fair visitors will not be acquainted with what you are doing, so remember to make your project as clear and simple as possible. The best project may well be a very simple one.

Admissions Committee
An Admissions Committee consisting of a science teacher from three of the four public high schools in the county will pass on the admission of projects to the Fair. If the project does not meet the rules and regulations listed below it will be barred from the Fair.

The 1962 Admissions Committee will consist of one representative from the East Stroudsburg Jointure, the Pocono Mountains Jointure, and Stroud Union.

Rules And Regulations

1. Size limits for projects are: width, 36 inches; depth (front to back), 30 inches; height, 84 inches.

2. All projects must be self supporting. Those that do not stand alone will be barred from the Fair.

3. Make your exhibit strong and durable. Avoid loose, unattached parts; fasten everything to your exhibit. Protect valuable or fragile parts with glass or a screen.

4. Plan to keep your exhibit in working order during the Fair. Exhibits with moving parts should be checked often so that repairs may be made.

5. Only 120 volt alternating current will be provided. No exhibit may be operated which requires more than 10 amperes at 120 volts. Each 120 volt operated unit MUST be provided with a visible fuse not greater than 10 amperes, with eight to ten feet of cord, with the popular type of parallel plug and with 120 volt switches. Fused plugs that are both visible and simple to install are recommended. Doorbell push buttons and open knife switches MAY NOT be used on 120 volt lines. All electrical circuits must be properly insulated and protected from contact by the public.

You must provide your own extension cord and plug. You may use a transformer; hook it up in such a way that it works only when the pushbutton switch is held down.

6. Dangerous chemicals in open containers, open flames, explosive gases, operating X-ray devices, and dangerous radiations are strictly prohibited.

7. All bacteria must be in sealed containers. All pathogenic bacteria are prohibited.

8. Living animals in exhibits must be properly cared for at all times. It is the exhibitor's responsibility to see that his animals are fed, watered, and that the cages are cleaned. He must also guard the animals from being handled by the public.

9. Poisonous animals and poisonous plants are absolutely prohibited.

10. Exhibits in the 1962 Fair must be constructed during the 1961-62 school year.

11. No student may enter more than one exhibit in the competition.

Dates To Keep In Mind
The Fair will be held in the East Stroudsburg Armory on March 22 and 23, 1962.

Your entry blank should be filled out and mailed to James Morris, Pocono Mountains Jointure High School, Stroudsburg, Pa., no later than March 16, 1962.

Projects are to be set up and put in working order in the East Stroudsburg Armory on Wednesday afternoon, March 21, from 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. All exhibits must be removed from the Armory by noon, Saturday, March 24.

Hours Of The Fair
Thursday, 4 p.m. to 9:30 p.m.
Friday, 1 p.m. to 10 p.m.

Prizes will be awarded at 7:30 p.m. Thursday, March 22.

Judging
A committee of competent judges selected from colleges, out-of-county high schools, and from professional ranks are invited to judge the exhibits by Dr. W. G. Moore, Chairman of Judges. The judges carefully examine the exhibits and use the following standards in selecting projects for awards:

1. Creative Ability. Is your project original?

2. Evidence of Scientific Method. Have you considered all the evidence and then made a conclusion?

3. Thoroughness. Have you considered all aspects of the problem?

4. Technical skill. Have you done your work neatly and plainly?

5. Social Value. Does your project contribute to the welfare of mankind?

6. Clarity and Dramatic Value. Is your project done so well as to be clearly understood, and it is interesting enough to attract people's attention?

7. General Interest. Does your project explain scientific principles so clearly that non-scientists can learn by looking at it?

Awards And Prizes
Prizes will be given, if warranted, to those who in the opinion of the judges have submitted projects which are outstanding in the points given above. First, second, and third place prizes are given in each category in the Senior High Division and in the Junior High Division. The prizes are:

1st prize—$15.00 and a Gold Medal.
2nd prize—$10.00
3rd prize—$5.00

All exhibitors will be given certificates of participation.

Growing Fruits

By George Abraham
GROW FRUIT: Any truth to the old saying "An apple a day keeps the doctor away?"

Yes, there is. At Michigan State University where a 3 year test was conducted on 1300 college students, it was found that apple-eating students made one-third fewer calls for upper respiratory infection treatment than the student body as a whole. The apple-eaters had less tension-caused illness and general sickness. The ascorbic acid (Vitamin C) in the apples was responsible, plus some natural tranquilizer in the fruit.

I'm a nut when it comes to apples and other fruit. So far my family has consumed 5 bushels of apples this winter. If you're a home gardener who likes to grow his own fruit and try new things, then you'd be interested in seeing the 1962 catalog of the New York State Fruit Testing Association.

The catalog is free and lists recently named varieties of apples, peaches, nectarines, grapes, blueberries, raspberries and other fruit which the Experimental Station pomologists say have shown enough promise to merit further growing. I'd be very happy to see that you receive a copy of the "New Fruits" guide. Just send me your name and address on a postal card and I'll see that you get the 40-page book.

ONIONS: I'm often asked for the name of a good pickling onion. The only one we have grown in our gardens is White Portugal (Silverskin) an early, white and mild onion. If you like "Scallions" try the Japanese Bunching Onion. It does not form a bulb, but makes tender slim "scallions". When spaced, it multiplies to several stalks per plant. Buy a packet of seed and try this variety for green scallions.

If you want a good "hamburger" onion, The Sweet Spanish is a dandy, grown from plants. Buy a bunch and plant them this spring. You can grow onions weighing up to 2 pounds apiece!

WOOD ASHES: Are these worth keeping? Yes, they are. Wood ashes, unleached, contain all the mineral elements that were in the original wood. Ashes contain potash, a "grow" element needed by plants.

Woods vary greatly in value as a plant food. For example, if you burn a ton of beech in your fireplace, you get about 3 lbs. of potash, but if you burn a ton of elm you get about 9 lbs. Twigs are richer than mature wood. Besides potash, wood ashes contain about 2 per cent phosphorus.

Hardwood ashes contain more potash than softwood, but both are fine for the flower garden or in the vegetable plot. Do not use wood ashes in soils for potatoes unless you test it. Too much ashes will cause scab on potatoes.

Never use ashes around "acid-lovers" such as laurel, azalea, rhododendrons and similar plants.

How about incinerator ashes? They form a meagre way to build up soil fertility although they do have some conditioning (loosening) effect on hard soils. Remember this: Elements in ashes are soluble, so don't let them get to waste in a pile in the garden. Store them in a dry place until ready for use.

FREE: Want to know more about coal and wood ashes, soot, charcoal and incinerator ashes? Then send me a self-addressed, stamped envelope and ask for my bulletin, "Coal and Wood Ashes Are Worth Money." Our can help you straighten out "problem soils". Be sure to enclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope. No loose stamps or clippings.

TUBEROUS BEGONIAS: Still time to pot up your tubers for summer show. Start them in a box of damp peatmoss, and when they've sprouted pot them up singly in a 4" pot of humusy soil.

Question Box

QUESTION OF THE WEEK: F. T. of Stroudsburg: "I have some blueberry bushes that produce excellent berries. I would like to know how I can start new plants from my own bushes."

You can take hardwood cuttings in late winter or early spring. Place these in a mixture of sand and peatmoss in the coldframe, or you can use just pure peat. Shade them from direct sun. During the summer mist them 4 or 5 times daily.

Cuttings can be 5 to 6 inches long and preferably from healthy one-year-old wood. Insert the cuttings at least half way into the

Place in a bright window, not direct sun.

As soon as shirt-sleeve weather comes plant pot and all outdoor and you'll have flowers earlier than if you wait to plant tubers directly in garden. Potted now they should bloom from June till frost.

Did you know you can produce strong 4-inch flowering plants of both double and single Camellia-flowered tuberous begonias in six months from seed? The resulting blossoms are fully equal to those raised from tubers. If you start them from seed, remember that a night temperature of 65 degs. is an absolute necessity.

WARNING TO GARDENERS: If you placed plastic sheets over your evergreens for winter protection, take a look underneath now to make sure they aren't drying out the needles. On hot sunny days the heat of sun can be trapped inside and raise the temperature high enough to kill the foliage.

If there is any sign of desiccation, I'd remove the sheets instantly. Burlap while unsightly, makes a better material because it allows free exchange of air.

If there is some scorching on windward (or side toward the sun), you can trim these branches off in spring and allow new growth to come along.

Wait until warm weather comes before you try to measure winter damage, as it often takes months before you can tell.

sand-peat mix and tamp the sides lightly. Never allow the cuttings to dry out as it will prevent rooting.

I'd like to remind our friends who grow blueberries that heavy pruning is important. Your object is to reduce the crop, that is, to prevent overbearing.

Overbearing means small berries and a poor bush growth. Pruning prevents the bushes from being too dense and twiggy. Prune in early spring before bushes come into bloom. All short twiggy growth is taken out, leaving the vigorous new shoots 8 inches or more in length. If these contain too many fruit buds, some can be cut to leave only 3 or 4 buds per shoot.

This gives you marble-sized berries, more vigorous shoot growth, and a better producing plant the following year. Sawdust or peatmoss are ideal mulches around blueberries.

P.D. of Saylorsburg: "I'm looking for a vine which will give us shade and which isn't messy. Can you name a good one for our porch?"

Try the Dutchman's Pipe (Aristolochia siphon). It produces curious pipe-shaped flowers and large heart-shaped leaves which make a dense screen. Few vines are better for hiding a porch, garage cans or for training on pergolas. Another good one is Lonicera, a strong grower even in partial shade.

B.H. of Bangor: "Last year our lawn had brownish or pinkish dead areas along the sidewalk, especially where snow had piled. Now it looks like we've got the same thing. Is there any way we can check this now?"

Your lawn has Snow mold, a fungus problem that usually pops up year after year once infestation sets in. Snow mold is worse when there's heavy snow covering or where winters are mild and damp. Lawns mowed closely into late fall are less susceptible. Sometimes a healthy turf will outgrow the disease, but in most cases it won't.

Control: Use a mixture of calomel and corrosive sublimate (both

Dear Abby

The Male Angle!

Dear Abby: The worst thing that can happen to a guy is to be born before his sister. I am 16 and my sister is 14 and my parents won't let me get a date for anything until my sister has a date. If she doesn't get one, I have to take her. They say, "Just take her there and she will make her own good time." It never happens that way. I have to dance every dance with her and it's no fun for me. What should I do? I can't say I don't feel good again as I have used that excuse already.

STUCK WITH MY SISTER

Dear Abby: My parents may mean well but they are being very unfair to you. This sounds like a mother's idea. Appeal to your father.

Dear Abby: Our daughter (24)

wants to marry a divorced man (29). He is Protestant and so are we. No children are involved. I have met him and believe, if given half a chance, he would make a good husband for my daughter. The big problem is my wife. She doesn't know him and doesn't want to know him. All she knows is that he is a divorced man and that makes him no good. I am interested only in why he and his first wife were divorced, whether he would treat our daughter with respect and support her, and for my part that is good enough. These young people love each other. I have investigated him at his place of work and they speak very well of him. He looks like a gentleman and acts like one. How can I convince my wife to give him a chance? She thinks it's a case of one man sticking up for another.

DAD

Dear Dad: Dear Old Superman is both wrong and presumptuous in this case. A divorce doesn't blacken a man's character any more than bachelorhood purifies it. And a 24-year-old woman doesn't need Mom's approval for a "chance" at marriage.

Dear Abby: This is from a heartbroken 14-year-old girl. My mother is 37 and very pretty. My dad is 39 and a wonderful father. Lately my mother has been asking me to tell some lies to my father for her. Like where she is if he telephones and she is not at home. I think she is not being true to my father. I cry at night over this because I don't want our family broken up. Abby, what can I do to keep them together? Nobody listens to children.

HEART-BROKEN

Dear Heart-Broken: Some people DO listen to children and perhaps your mother will if you tell her what's on your mind. Frequently "from the mouths of babes" can come some timely advice.

Still worrying about the same old problem? Write to Abby, for a personal reply. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

World Day Of Prayer At N'fld

NEWFOUNDLAND — Service through contributions is the keynote of the World Day of Prayer Service, to be held this year at the Moravian church at 2 p.m. on Friday under the leadership of Mrs. Grace Lindenmuth.

Portions of the money contributed during the service will be used in the support of twelve colleges in Africa, India, Pakistan, Japan, Korea, Hong Kong, and Taiwan. Attractive magazines and books will be sent to lands where there is little for children, youth and adults to read. Migratory laborers in our country will benefit from the contributions. American Indians will receive helpful training. Aid will be given in leadership in churches and communities in transition.

Prayer and service will go hand in hand at Friday's service, each a part of this special day for Christians around the world. Everyone is invited to attend the service at the Moravian Church on Friday. Members of the LaAnns, South Sterling and Hemlock Grove Methodist Churches will participate in this union service.

Sap-Tappers Preparing For Maple Moon Time

NEWFOUNDLAND — The time of the Maple Moon, designated by the Indians as the moon which shines between the ending of Winter and the beginning of Spring, is fast approaching, and the half-dozen maple sap-tappers and syrup-producers in the area are busy preparing for the season.

An Indian legend handed down through the years, reveals that the Great Spirit believed that the thick, sweet, 100-per-cent sugar sap which flowed each winter's end from the maple trees was too good for the braves, since anything so easy to come by would not be appreciated. So he added a great quantity of water, (about 40 to 1 in our modern-day reckoning) so that the Indian who hungered for maple sugar must work and breathe smoke, to glean the desired sweet.

Area tappers are still carrying out the tradition of work and smoke and energy to harvest the hundreds of gallons of maple syrup in the Poconos. Some of the larger producers have introduced the use of plastic tubing to return the sap to the boiling vats, but many are still toting the buckets of syrup to the storage place.

The main bulk of maple syrup and maple sugar is turned out in the Poconos by less than half a dozen families. The Francis Curtis Uhl, Newfoundland; the Frank Stevens, Sterling; and the William Crofts, Greentown; and the Lawrence Grimms, Newfoundland, produce much of the syrup in the area.

Catty Smothers Lansford; Meets Bethlehem For Title

ALLENTOWN — Cataquaqua High School of the Lehigh Valley League had little trouble last night as they romped over Lansford 78-31 in the semifinal of the District XI, PIAA Class A playoff.

By virtue of the victory, Cataquaqua won the right to meet cross-town neighbors Bethlehem High for the Class A District XI title. Bethlehem defeated Mahanoy City 70-54 last night.

The district final will be played Saturday at the State Farm Show Arena in Harrisburg.

Catty High registered its 21st win against 4 losses while Lansford dropped its eighth contest in 22 tilts.

Over 3,000 fans jammed the Muhlenberg Fieldhouse to see the Rough Riders take the lead from the opening whistle and rolled unchecked to the victory.

Baseball Beware! Few More Boyer Boys Are On The Way

By TED SMITHS
Associated Press Sports Editor
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Baseball, beware. There are more Boyers on the way. Maybe the best is yet to come.

Presently three brothers are active in the game: Ken, the slugger third baseman of the St. Louis Cardinals; Cletis, the slick-fielding third baseman of the New York Yankees; and Cloyd, a pitcher formerly with the Cardinals and now a player-coach with Indianapolis.

Back in Alba, Mo., there's Ronnie, who is doing a fine job also at third base as a high school senior, and Leonard, a tall sophomore who pitches and plays some infield.

"They're real major league prospects," says brother Ken proudly.

This may seem like pretty strong representation for one family, but as a matter of fact

'Pilots' Fume When Pitcher Leaves Mound

Associated Press Sports Writer
MESA, Ariz. (AP)—The serenity of the Chicago Cubs' managerless camp was ruffled Wednesday in the wake of an incident involving pitcher Bobby Locke, who walked off the mound without notice in an intrasquad game.

Locke, acquired from Cleveland where he had a 4-4 relief record last season, said he had arm trouble and yanked himself Tuesday because he didn't know which of the array of Cub coaches to notify.

Head Coach Elvin Tappe was absent, attending a civic luncheon in Phoenix. However, the three Cub pitching coaches reportedly were miffed.

One of the coaches, who asked not to be identified, said, "If he was my property, he'd be on his way to the minors."

Locke marched into the dressing room, where he told trainer Al Scheueman, "My arm tightened up and I didn't want to risk hurting it."

Locke said he did not expect to be disciplined. Tappe, who said the walkoff might not have occurred if he had been present, suggested "this is all a misunderstanding."

The 23-year-old right-hander, right after his self-benching, said: "I'm the only pitcher around here smart enough to do what I did. I know this weather here in the spring and you can't afford to take any chances."

Tappe said Locke Thursday would follow his regular training schedule.

U.S. Hockey Coach Sees Opening Win

BALTIMORE (AP)—The American Football League decided to fill out its eighth-team circuit with Oakland to create a rivalry on the West Coast with the Los Angeles Chargers, Barron Hilton testified Wednesday.

Hilton, son of hotel magnate Conrad Hilton, is the president of the San Diego Chargers, which he shifted from Los Angeles after the AFL was under way. He was called to testify for the AFL in its $10-million antitrust suit against the National Football League.

The Oakland franchise was added to the new league at an AFL meeting in Dallas in January 1960, he said. The spot for an eighth team in the league became open with the withdrawal of the AFL franchise in Minneapolis.

Hilton said two locations were considered for the eighth franchise—Oakland and Atlanta.

"The majority of (AFL) owners preferred Atlanta," he said. "But I maintained the Chargers needed a rivalry with another West Coast team to stimulate their own development."

Fight Manager Walker, Dies

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—"We expect to win that first game, but it's going to be a crucial one for us," John (Connie) Pleban, coach of the U.S. national ice hockey team, said Wednesday.

The American team, picked to battle the Canadians and Swedes for the world amateur title, plays its first game against Norway in the eight-team championship bracket Thursday night. Game time at the Broadmoor World Arena is 10:15 p.m. EST.

Any doubts that the 11-day competition would be officially recognized as world championships were removed Wednesday when Robert Label of Montreal, president of the International Ice Hockey Federation, repulsed a Russian attempt to remove the championship label. The Communist countries withdrew from the tournament when the Allied travel bureau in West Berlin refused to grant travel permits to the East German team.

Meanwhile, Pleban, from Duluth, Minn., had his problems. "I won't decide until a few hours before game time who will be our goalie," he said. "We only played two exhibition games and that wasn't enough to get a good line on the team. I'll know more after we play Norway."

The Americans are carrying two goaltenders, Mike Larson of the University of Minnesota and Jim Hoggie of Malden, Mass. Neither has experience in world championship competition.

Olympic teams from a broad base of penny-givers. So far, the plan has been endorsed for members of California-Nevada-Hawaii Kiwanis clubs. He plans to expand the idea to other service clubs.

Cardinals Fail To Hold 10-Point Lead In Third

By Curt Prins
Daily Record Sports Editor
BETHLEHEM — Pocono Mt. High School came within 11 seconds of upsetting Fountain Hill last night before bowing 50-48 in the semi finals of the District XI, Class B playoffs.

For three periods, the independent Cardinals frustrated the Lehigh-Northampton League runner-up and by the end of the third period held a 35-25 lead on the Hillers.

If Pocono had not picked the night to put on its poorest shooting performance of the season, the Cardinals might be making the trip to Harrisburg on Saturday night for the championship game against the winners of last night's Frackville-Blue Mountain contest.

The Cardinals had only 12 field goals and finished with a shooting percentage of 26.7. Fountain Hill hit only 37.2 percentage of its field goals attempts but crammed 25 points in the final period.

Rouses Crowd

Until the closing minutes, the game had little action with both teams being called for repeated violations.

The Pocono five roused the crowd in the third period and the early part of the fourth period by opening what looked like a safe 10-point advantage.

Pocono had its 10-point lead as late as 6:21 of the final period and with 3:39 seconds remaining the Cards still maintained a five-point spread.

Pocono got its lead mainly on foul shots, earning 13 trips to the foul line in the third period and cashed in on eight of them. The Cards were 24 for 36 from the foul line in the game.

Chance For Tie

Strangely, Pocono had a chance to tie the game in the final four seconds when A. J. Bittner earned a 1 for 1 try. The Pocono senior had missed only one foul shot in six tries when he stepped to the line for the 1 and 1 situation.

Bittner flicked the ball toward the hoop and it appeared that it might drop successfully. But the ball jumped out of the net and hung for a moment on the rim before falling out.

The rebound was batted toward the hoop three times in the remaining seconds with the 2,000 fans roaring louder with each attempt.

Seven seconds earlier, Fountain Hill's Jack Frey, who was high for the game with 16 points, scored the winning points on two perfect foul shots. Only the 11th and 12th foul line points of the game — for the winners.

Terry Voght had tied the game for Fountain Hill three seconds earlier by putting in a rebound lay up.

Pocono's Ralph Dunlap had apparently clinched the game with 26 seconds left when he also made good on a pressure 1 and 1 foul. It looked even better for the Cards when Fountain Hill missed a lay up try and both teams struggled for the rebound while the clock ticked toward the end.

Winning Points

Frey finally snagged the ball and went back up for a lay up but was fouled by John Ryan and Frey successfully sank two foul tries for the winning points.

It was a slow first half with both teams called for repeated violations. On only one occasion did either team manage two field goals in a row. That feat came with about two minutes left in the first half, when the Hillers George Kulanko hit on back to back jump shots. Kulanko was the leading scorer in the first half with eight points all on field goals.

Kulanko missed a chance to run his team's lead to three points when his jump shot popped in and out of the basket as the half ended.

Pocono had the biggest lead of the first half, a 4-0 spread. It took the teams almost three minutes to put lights on the scoreboard and it was the Cards' Ed Luck that finally broke through. Luck swished two foul shots and fourteen seconds later picked off a Hiller pass and dribbled in for an easy lay up.

Voght had the first Fountain Hill points. They came on a rebound shot with 5:15 remaining in the opening quarter.

The Cards had the good shots in the first half but their range was off. Pocono hit only 18 1/2 per cent. The Hillers had a 36 per cent first half shooting average. Pocono almost pushed the victory out reach in the third quarter when it outscored the Hillers 15-5.

Fountain Hill, which apparently thought it would have little trouble with the Swift-water team, looked like anything but a district semi-finalist in that period.

Fountain Hill employed a full court press from the start, but it did not pay immediate dividends. The Hillers did manage to force Pocono into several ten-second violations but were unable to capitalize on the advantage.

In the last period, however, the press did help Fountain Hill, and got them the ball when they desperately needed it. It sounds almost impossible but Fountain Hill made good on only one outside shot although it tried 25 long-rangers.

Mike Gelger and Bill Hickey had the most trouble from outside. Hickey tried eight jump shots from the top of the key but failed to connect. Griger got off five set shots from about 30 feet out and he also was blanked.

Fountain Hill was such a heavy favorite that many of the school's fans passed up the game to watch the Bethlehem-Mahanoy Area game at Hershey.

The Hillers even went so far as to order several days ago 700 tickets for Saturday's district championship game.

The Hillers sold only 251 advanced sale tickets for the Pocono game while Pocono peddled 604 tickets.

Jacks Make Home Court Debut Sunday

THE UNBEATEN Jacks tune-up for their meeting with the Philadelphia Eagles, with two games this weekend.

Saturday night the Jacks travel to Port Jervis to meet the Port Jervis Rees, unbeaten in 12 straight games.

Sunday afternoon at 2 the Jacks, make their home debut. The club meets the Hokenauqua American Legion team at Mountain Manor, Marshalls Creek.

Hokenauqua, a Lehigh County team, has lost only once in 13 starts. The club is composed of former Allentown area high school stars, including 6-10 Rich (Tiny) Saylor of Catawqua, who holds the Lehigh Valley single game scoring record of 47 points.

Open To Public

Sunday's game will be open to the public. The Mountain Manor gym, a full-size layout, that can accommodate indoor tennis, is directly across the street from the fifth hole of the resort's golf course.

Russ Hopewell, who holds the East Stroudsburg State College career scoring record, will be performing with the Jacks this weekend.

Area fans will also get a chance to watch 6-4, 265-pound Bernie Cabey, who starred for three years for Toledo University.

Cabey was picked on the Mid-America Conference all-star team in his senior year and led the conference in field goal accuracy, hitting 49 per cent of his shots.

Normally a big man gets most of his points on under the basket shots but most of Cabey's points are scored on long line drive jump shots.

The Jacks also feature 6-5 Ken Hendricks and Tony Salerno, who co-captained East Stroudsburg State College last year. Stroud Union High basketball coaches Bob Wert and Wilmont Smith, Rick Carroll, another ex-ESSC performer, along with Lem Isom, Ralph Davis and John Whiteside.

The Eagles played in Wilson Boro Monday and drew 1,200 people, a capacity crowd. Tickets for the game are on sale at Lim's Sporting Goods, Twin City TV, Sam Block's News Agency in Stroudsburg and Jack's Market, in East Stroudsburg. Tickets will go on sale at the college at 5:45 Wednesday.

State Closes Trout Waters For Stocking

ALL fishing in trout waters of the Commonwealth, except for selected area, will be prohibited from midnight, March 14, to 5 a.m., April 14.

The announcement was made by Albert M. Day, executive director of the Pennsylvania Fish Commission.

Day said that the waters include sections of any stream or river or any pond or lake if the section has been stocked with trout by the Fish Commission within the preceding year.

The Monroe County waters that will be open for fishing, except if posted by property owners are Tobyhanna State Park Lake, Mill Pond No. 1, Brady's Lake and the Delaware River.

The Pike county list shows Billings Pond, Greeley Lake, Lower Lake, Delaware River from Pike-Wayne Co. line to Pike-Monroe Co. line; Lake Wallenpaupack, Bruce Lake, Egypt Meadow Lake, Pecks Pond, Minisink Lake, Little Mud Pond, White Deer Lake, Fairview Lake, Westwood Lake, Welcome Lake, Twin Lakes, Klinghans Lake, Little Mud Pond (Dingman Twp.), Decker Marsh Dam, Promised Land Lake and Walker Lake.

members, who have been out of school for a "few" years, will be allowed to play.

Any members of the Varsity "E" Club wishing to join or play in the contest may report to the East Stroudsburg High School gym tonight for practice. The practice will begin at 7 p. m.

During the halftime of the Eagles-Pocono Jacks game, the Pocono-Slate Belt High School foul shooting championship will be held. Each area high school, Stroud Union, East Stroudsburg, Pocono Mountain, Pleasant Valley, Bangor, Pen Argyl, Plux X, Southern Wayne and Delaware Valley, will be allowed one entry.

20 In Preliminary
Each student will shoot 20 free throws in the preliminary round. The four marksmen with the highest total will move into the final round for 20 more chances. The winner will be determined by the score in the finals only.

The Eagles, who have lost only twice this year in some 40 games, have added a new feature, a twist exhibition by quarterback Sonny Jurgenon and halfback Tom McDonald. McDonald is a natural for the twist. He's been twisting away for pass defenders for several years in the National Football League.

The Eagles played in Wilson Boro Monday and drew 1,200 people, a capacity crowd.

Tickets for the game are on sale at Lim's Sporting Goods, Twin City TV, Sam Block's News Agency in Stroudsburg and Jack's Market, in East Stroudsburg.

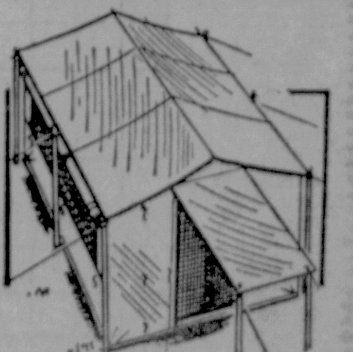

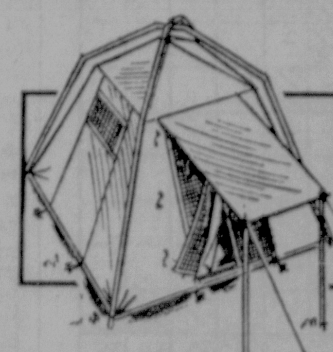

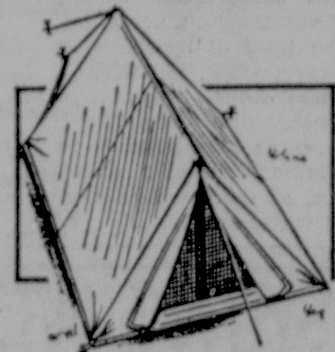

Tickets will go on sale at the college at 5:45 Wednesday.

Bangor Council Names Cascoli Vice President

BANGOR — John Cascoli was elected the vice president of the Bangor Borough Council at this week's meeting of the council. This is the first time in the history of the borough that a vice president has been named and in accordance with recommended procedures for boroughs by recent State suggestions. The vice president will normally take over the duties of the president in his absence.

In other action council voted to give the fire chief and his assistant the sum of $300 to attend the annual state convention and was reported that street repairs will be made by the C. and T. Affiliates, sewer constructors, where they have caused damages in the recent construction.

Council also authorized that bids be asked for to make the necessary repairs to the Bangor Park swimming pool. It has been estimated that the costs will be about $920 and are to be completed in a thirty day period prior to the Memorial Day opening. At the same time council instructed the Bangor Park Board to proceed with repairs to the field house and the alterations of the ground floor level of a part of the swimming pool to be converted into team rooms. Heat and showers are to be supplied and proper installations will be made in both areas for greater team comfort and to handle some 80 to 100 players. Mast Engineering Co., of Reading has offered to make engineering suggestions for heating.

Thomas Naylor was renominated to the Bangor Park Board for a new five year term and plans were made to hold a meeting of the residents of Bracard Court, the sewer committee and sewer authority in order to resolve the matter of the installation of the sewer collection system in that area and how it will affect residents and property owners.

In keeping with the program of the borough to obtain additional streets in the borough affected by the sewer construction, Council took the necessary steps to ordain Murray Street from Market south to the property of the Blue Ridge Textile Company below Chestnut Street. Also being considered are South Street near the Hotel Broadway and a new innovation in streets and named, Wise Mews, presently an alley running in the rear of the south side of Broadway. In defending its choice of name Council stated that this area was at one time the stable area for the old Wise Lumber Company and the word MEWS is the English name given to the area or court onto which stables open.

Council also passed an ordinance amending a previous ordinance that had set assessment footage in the borough at 603,000 to 627,000 feet thus increasing the revenue some $25,000 at the rate of $3 per front foot.

The First National Bank was named as the collecting agency for all sewer rentals at no cost to the borough for the first year. J. Lawrence Davis, borough solicitor was instructed to notify the Bangor Gas Company that it had ten days to fill open ditches on North Fourth Street and also that it is to immediately complete its work of installing pipes on North Third Street. Council also instructed borough secretary William J. Sleeman to advertise for bids on a back hoe with multiple equipment the estimated cost of which was not known.

The Law committee was instructed to re-write the borough ordinances covering salesmen in the borough and also to prepare new ordinances affecting dogs in the borough. A tentative claim was heard from James Halliday concerning property on the corner of North First Street and Penna. Ave., as a result of the construction of the new route 191. The Street committee was instructed to view the property claim and report its findings at the next meeting of council.

Several suggestions have been received by council recently over the matter of considering the better control of traffic in the business area of the community. One of these was to make the business block a one way street. Upon the suggestion of Councilman Merl Tucker a study of the possibility will be made by the Safety committee.

Council renewed its contract to supply fire protection to 1/3 of Plainfield Township in company with Wind Gap and Stockertown. The fee for this service was set at $500. At the same time a similar contract was approved with Washington Township at the annual fee of $1,000. Evan Williams was re-named as a member of the Bangor Board of Health for a new five year term.

Language Laboratory For Paupack

NEWFOUNDLAND — The Wallenpaupack Area Joint School Board, meeting at Hawley High School, approved installation of a permanent language laboratory in the new school on Lake Wallenpaupack. The laboratory will be a room where students use electronic equipment to hear, record and play back spoken material, and includes student stations for listening, speaking and recording, and the teacher sending station and control panel.

As presented by Robert Eckes, chairman of the purchasing committee, the permanent laboratory, which is 50% reimbursable through NDEA funds, has many advantages over the mobile lab which had been considered by the committee. The increased interest in languages, it was pointed out, will make a ten-unit mobile setup obsolete, where the complete setup of 30 stations will undoubtedly be in full-time use. In adding units to the mobile setup, sound quality is lost, it was noted. The mobile unit cannot record students, but is strictly a hear and response situation. No privacy is afforded in the mobile unit, and there are loose wires which must be placed in operation each time the class meets.

Cost of the mobile setup was estimated between $600 and $1,000, according to the number of stations; of the permanent setup, between $7,000 and $10,000.

Eight special meetings were scheduled for the board and committees during the month. On March 8, the building and purchasing committees will meet with the architect to go over equipment and building plans at 8 p.m. at Hawley High School.

On March 9, the transportation committee will have a special meeting, for business and budget purposes at 8 p.m. at the high school. On March 12, the purchasing committee will meet for budget study at 8 p.m., and on the same night at the same hour, a separate building committee budget meeting is planned.

There will be a special meeting of the entire board on March 14 to approve bids for the well and to hear a breakdown of bond issue and rental costs at 9 p.m. at the high school. On March 15, the chairman of the building and purchasing committees will meet at 9:30 a.m. at White Deer Inn with NDEA officials. On March 19 the administrative budget meeting will be held at 9 p.m. at the high school. And on March 22, at 9 p.m., there will be a finance budget meeting.

Only the March 8, 14 and 19 meetings are scheduled for the nine member districts. The other meetings are for the seven districts, excluding Greene and Dreher Townships. A tentative budget is expected to be detailed at the next regular meeting of the board on April 2.

It was announced that I & G Construction Company of Honesdale has furnished its cash bond and that work of clearing the site will begin immediately. First operation will be to clear a path to the well site so that work can be started. It was noted that the well casing will have to be 16" with an 8" inner casing, rather than the smaller casing planned.

Bills totaling $3,690.12 were ordered paid. It was noted that the audit has been completed.

An increase in the sewage treatment system was approved, to a 1,000-student capacity, rather than the 837 expected capacity. The expected total cost of the plant for sewage treatment was reported at $65,000.

Dr. Richard Porter presided at the session and Paul T. Ryder, Wayne superintendent, spoke during the meeting.

General Roundup
Everett Associates submitted a general roundup of information on the building and furnishing costs. It was reported that the architect will endeavor to plan the project so that the construction cost will not exceed $2,000 per rated pupil capacity. This construction cost on general construction, heating includes the total of base bids, and ventilating work, plumbing and electrical work. Exclusive of the construction costs are such charges as site improvements including surveys, and test borings, a sewage disposal system and water supply.

Figuring Stock Splits

By William A. Doyle

Q. Consumers Power Co. is planning to split its common stock two-for-one. This stock now pays dividends of 70 cents a share quarterly—every three months. After the split the dividend will be 35 cents every three months. As a result of the two-for-one split, I will receive the same amount of dividends. What is the purpose of such a split? The stock won't be worth any more, or will it be?

A. The purpose of this split is evidently to bring Consumers Power common stock into a "popular price range." This is the reasoning behind most stock splits.

As I write this column, Consumers Power common is quoted at around $80 a share. As a result of the split, the market price will be around $40 a share—give or take a bit for ups and downs in market trading.

For some reason (not really any good reason) $40 stocks are more popular with investors than $80 stocks. In the $40 price range, it's reasonable to expect that more people will be interested in buying this stock. More buyers and potential buyers normally send the market price of a stock higher.

The 200 shares you will own after the split won't be "worth any more" than the 100 shares you own now—as far as ownership of a part of the company is concerned.

You are most certainly correct about the total dividends you will receive. But you overlook the fact that the dividend was recently increased—for the sixth time in the past 10 years. In that period, the market price of the stock more than doubled. When it reached the point it is near now, the company's management proposed the stock split. Stockholders will vote on the proposal April 10.

Q. A company in which I own stock has obtained a $40 million loan from a group of insurance firms. The loan is for 20 years and the company will pay annual interest of 5 1/2 percent. Yet, the president of this company recently stated that the company's earnings will be only about two percent in the near future.

How can a company which has to borrow so much money, at such high rate of interest, ever be a successful investment for stockholders?

A. I don't understand that statement you attribute to the company's president. I doubt that you understand it, either. Two percent on what—on total sales, on capital investment, on the money the company has available? Many people do not understand that most companies borrow money. That $40 million loan isn't such a big one, for a big company.

A company normally borrows money for a specific purpose—to build a plant or some other reason. The object is to put that money to work to make more money—for stockholders.

Some of the biggest companies have done the biggest borrowing. When a company borrows, it must pay interest in line with the going money market conditions and the company's credit standing. That 5 percent interest you are unhappy about isn't the least bit unusual for a 20-year, $40 million loan.

Q. I won some bonds of a railroad which is planning to merge with another railroad. What effect will the merger have on my bonds?

A. The bonds are debt obligations of the railroad which has issued them. Assuming the merger through, it will then be the obligation of the merged company to pay interest on the bonds and to pay the principal amount (par value) of the bonds, when the bonds mature.

Home Coming Theme At 'S' Concert At Stroud Union

By PAT WILLIAMS

Record Correspondent
HOMECOMING was the theme for the Jersey Central Power and Light Co.-New Jersey Power and Light Co. concert at Stroud Union High School Tuesday night.

Lorraine Merwin Miller, director of the combined choral group, and the accompanist, Jack MacDonough, are both graduates of Stroudsburg High School at the time when it was "the school on the hill."

Following the two-part concert which consisted of seasonal selections chosen by Mrs. Miller, she was greeted in the hall by schoolmates who recalled old times. MacDonough was greeted by schoolmates and faculty members alike.

Mrs. Miller attended the Philadelphia Conservatory of Music where she majored in piano. She took supervisory music at New York University and joined the faculty of Stroudsburg High School where Jack MacDonough was her student accompanist. They renewed their musical relationship four years ago after Mrs. Miller had been with the New Jersey Power and Light Co. Chorus for one season.

MacDonough left the faculty of Stroud Union in 1947 to become the head of the history department at Maplewood, N. J. High. He is also organist for the Church of the Redeemer in East Orange.

This is the first time Mrs. Miller has seen many schoolmates since a class reunion held at a resort in the Poconos seven years ago. MacDonough returns to visit relatives occasionally.

Reside In Dover

Mr. and Mrs. Miller reside in Dover, N. J., where he is northern division manager for the New Jersey Power and Light Co. His work with the company enables him to be a member of the chorus. He was a member for some time but has since dropped out but accompanies

Mrs. Miller on choral tours through the state.

Among the 45 chorus members are two married couples. Several of the members were absent from the concert Tuesday night as they were needed on duty to combat power failures due to heavy wet snow which accumulated in South Jersey.

Weather in the Stroudsburg prevented the Varsity "S" from realizing the large audience it had expected. Approximately 350 people heard the concert. Richard Campeotto, chairman

Area Resort Owners Invest $1.5 Million For Refacings

A MILLION and a half dollars in capital improvements have been made by the hotel, motel and lodge owners in the Pocono Mountains this winter in order to have their facilities ready for an anticipated record-breaking spring and summer resort season.

According to the Pocono Mountains Vacation Bureau—an association of 251 leading Pocono resort owners and operators—many hotels have replaced obsolete accommodations with entirely new construction, while others are following the trend towards building new sports and recreation facilities.

A 4,000 square foot indoor ice skating rink—opening April 15th at Penn Hills Lodge—will operate year round and may also be used as an air-conditioned theatre. The
